Wow. What a year it has been!

It’s sad to think that our reign has finally come to an end...BUT have no fear; your new leaders are on their way!

We know without a doubt that the prefects of 2013 will try their very best to be better than us, but is that really possible?

From daily singing, to hilarious videos and various wild lunchtime activities, the 2012 prefects have done it all! Only time will tell whether this prefect body was the best ever.

For the last time Masada college,

Keep it real!

Rosh Hashanah Dreaming
God is offering another year of life.
What are we going to do with it?

A man who dreams is a man who cares. And a man who cares is a man who makes a difference.

You would think that on the Day of Judgment, we as Jewish people would pray for forgiveness, for health, for a year of life. But if you look at the essence of the prayer service, you will see that we ask for none of this.

What do we ask? We ask that God perfect the world. We ask for unity amongst people. We ask for harmony.

Rosh Hashanah is there to lift our sights, to remind us to dream. To dream of great things — peace, love, justice... Why bother dreaming of anything less?

By dreaming ambitious dreams, we remind ourselves that life really does matter. This is not just another year of dullness. It is a year in which we can accomplish great things. We remind ourselves that we really do want another year, another opportunity to strive towards making a difference.

“Why fit in when you were born to stand out?”
#yourdifferencemakesthedifference
SOME ADVICE FROM STUDENT WELFARE

Jason: "I'm entertainment, and am constantly making jokes but no one ever laughs. I feel like I used to be so much funnier than I am now. What can I do?"

Dear Jason, unfortunately you are right. Your glory days are in the past! But have no fear; your prefects are here to help you change that! And acknowledging the problem is the first step in solving it!

Guideline #1: Trust in your innate sense of humour. This is something that gave you great success in the past! Being funny doesn't come in "one-size-fits-all"; what makes you funny is unique to you and the way you observe the world. Try to focus first on what you find funny in life, and learn from your own reactions to the things that make you laugh.

Guideline #2: The use of a mirror. I have no doubt that you spend excessive time practising your "funny" poses in the mirror. But try to make these poses more unexpected and perhaps more natural! Take Ross for example, his silly and bizarre funny faces come completely natural to him.

Jason, GOOD LUCK! We believe that you will solve your problems in no time, we need your humour!

Take Care, Student Welfare!

News from social action

Once again your Social Action prefects come to you with the news that you probably have not heard before so, brace yourselves Masada; A big shout out to Debbie Karpel, Robyn Katz & Jasmine Bernard when we say that McDonald’s is opening its first vegetarian-only restaurant in the world in India.

- It is going to suit local tastes -- which in India means no beef to avoid offending Hindus and no pork to cater for Muslim requirements.
- Cow slaughter is not allowed because of religious reasons, as cows are sacred in India, and the consumption of pork is prohibited in the Koran.
- After its launch, Maccas is planning to open another vegetarian outlet in India!
- Instead of using beef, they use spicy fried potato-based patties.
- Within the next three years, Maccas is planning on opening up to 300 more outlets in India, attempting to expand their market in the country.
- Similarly, Domino’s Pizza is also “Indianising” its offers, which is creating pizzas with extra spicy toppings.
- Sooner or later, Maccas will become Kosher and we’ll all be able to eat at it

What to Look Forward To

- SRC afternoon
- Announcement of your 2013 Prefects!
- Tomorrow! Because with each new day comes a new opportunity to showcase how your difference makes the difference!

Want to get involved?!

Think you have what it takes to contribute to Hakuna Masada?

Send your articles, look-a-likes, jokes, quotes and anything else your heart desires to...

masadaprefects@hotmail.com

Keep it real!